7 Cents a Copy

Around
the Square

There aren't so many pennies, dimes and nickels rolling on the floor at City School when milk time comes around. Until recently the kids have been buying the beverage with tickets at six cents. But now the milk is sold only by a $2.40 ticket. It isn't hard to understand why the new rule was made. You can imagine what it must have been like with Johnny dropping his penny while six other kids hollered for change—and little Mary weeping because she lost the dime from her handkerchief.

There something fascinating about an open fire hydrant, with the water gushing out like crazy. Wonder what it is? Is it related, in some subtle way, to a fire alarm box? Psychologists tell us not to worry if we feel the impulse to break that little window, or pull the lever, to bring the engines racing. Baby always wants to touch what baby mustn't touch. But what goes with fire hydrants?

The one at the northeast corner of Sierra Madre boulevard and Baldwin was spouting off last Friday and, sure enough, all the youngsters in the vicinity gathered around. One little girl was wading in the cool stream, apparently barefoot, and was envied her—until she stepped back to the curb. She was still wearing her shoes and socks!

The biggest boy in the crowd, naturally, had to put his hands over the spouting hydrant—to see if he could stop the water. You know darn well it wasn't because he's a taxpayer. He just had to do it. And when his hands diverted the water all over himself and his companions everybody screamed and had a wonderful time.

How do we know? We were watching from the NEWS window. We enjoyed it too.

Lest anyone start grumbling about the waste of water, let's make it clear that those fire hydrants have to be turned on once in a while. Maybe it's to clean the streets. Or maybe the hydrants themselves have to be cleaned out. Ever think of that?

Residents of Sierra Madre sometimes complain about the smog that drifts in from the big city. We don't blame them. But anyone who gets to feeling sorry for himself should try driving into the great metropolis five or six times a week. Sierra Madre still looks good by comparison. It looks wonderful.

Last Sunday afternoon a beautiful, big car was parked at a downtown curbing near a local tavern. As we went inside for cigarettes, we commented to the cashier that the car's motor was still running. "It's all set," he said. "Ready to drive. Hope the right man takes it." With that, a young man at the counter left his friends and raced outside. Coming back, he shook his head sadly. "I get the poorest mileage that way," he said.

Speaking of cars, the traffic in Sierra Madre is a lot heavier than it used to be. Even out on East Grandview, towards double drive, which used to be considered real "country," the cars come zipping by with regularity. Hope the mothers in that section remind their children of this. Sometimes, the way the cars come down the hill at the far end of East Grandview, the road looks like a race track.

Mrs. Charles Stuart Shippey was scheduled to model maternity clothes at the Virginia Styles Fashion Show Saturday—but Mrs. Shippey was unavailability detained by no less a person than "Chuck" Jr., who put in his appearance at St. Luke's Hospital at about the time Mrs. Styles was presenting her "good-night" fashions.

Pro-and-Con Meeting Slated
By Coordinating Council

The 24 state and county propositions facing voters on election day are to be aired—pro and con—at an open meeting scheduled for Monday, Oct. 27, at 8 p.m. in the City School auditorium.

Sponsored by the Sierra Madre Coordinating Council, the meeting will highlight an objective discussion of the puzzling propositions by Mrs. Herold J. Kroesche, secretary of the Pasadena League of Women Voters. Mrs. Kroesche, who represented the local league at its national convention, is known

Sierra Madre Gets Set For A Big Time at "Carnival"Residents May Recover Goods
Stolen Here

Sierra Madre police are notifying certain residents in town that goods stolen from their homes since March 1950 may possibly be recovered as the result of the apprehension of alleged burglars Stanley Paul Stantus and his brother, Anton Bernard Stantus. It is believed that the former may prove to be the "Crepe Sole Shoe Burglar" wanted by police in many localities.

The brothers were arrested in Alhambra by Alhambra police, after Stanley was picked up on a prowler call last Monday. According to Sierra Madre Chief of Police, Gordon G. McMillan, two "box hammers"—a type of tool used by burglars in some of the Sierra Madre robberies—were found on the suspects.

Also found was an accumulation of loot so large that a store building in Alhambra has been rented to contain it. Persons who wish to view the collection in hope of finding property stolen from them are invited to visit the building at 226 W. Main, Alhambra.

The Stantus brothers are reported to have had several addresses including 4433 W. Rosehill drive, Los Angeles, and 2533 N. Brighton, Burbank.

Noren Eaton Goes to Huntington Hospital

Noren Eaton, Sierra Madre attorney and city councilman, underwent surgery at Huntington Hospital last Sunday. His condition is reported good. He is expected to return to Sierra Madre within a week or ten days.

Come and bring the family to the PTA Carnival Sat., Oct. 18.

Democrats Buy
Certificates
For Campaign

Local Democratic headquarters report that so many Sierra Madreans are contributing to the Stevenson-Sparkman campaign fund that the headquarters has had to secure certificate books to accommodate them.

Gov. Stevenson has asked that his campaign fund be supplied mainly by small contributions from a great many persons. This has resulted in the printing of certificates, each with a facsimile letter of thanks in Stevenson's handwriting, selling for five dollars. The local headquarters, in response to many requests, ordered the certificates and now have them at 28 Windsor Lane.

AMERICAN
CELEBRATE

The great homecoming celebration for Lewis K. Gough, National Commander of the American Legion and Past Commander of Pasadena's Post No. 13, will be celebrated at Pasadena this weekend. Commander Gough will arrive Friday from the National Headquarters at Indianapolis for the eventful occasion.

Secretary of the Navy, Dan Kimball, will give the key address at the Distinguished Guest Banquet at the Huntington Hotel on Friday evening, Oct. 17. This is an event which many famous celebrities will attend.

The following night, Saturday, Oct. 18, starts one of Pasadena's greatest parades. Most of the posts of the county are to be represented and many famous marching organizations are to participate. A large group of military and mounted units turn out for this affair. One of the features is to be the massed colors of Legion and American flags representing many Legion posts.

Commander Gough is well known in Sierra Madre and was guest of honor at a dinner given by the Sierra Madre Masonic Lodge in Nov. 1951, at which time he was introduced as "the next National Commander of the American Legion."

TELEPHONE
BE CHANGED

The use of new telephone equipment to handle the increased demands for communication within this vicinity is one of the reasons why many Sierra Madreans will have new telephone numbers, beginning midnight Nov. 29. According to Ralph Duto, district manager in Sierra Madre and Monrovia for the California Water and Telephone Company, the first time that subscribers will use their new numbers will be the morning of Nov. 30.

Subscribers will be informed in advance as to what their new numbers will be, and the numbers will be attached to their telephones. Anyone trying to reach an old number will be interrupted on the line by a recording that will inform the caller of the change, locally. In the case of out-of-town calls, the operator will break in to give the correct number.

Another reason for the change is that the telephone company is installing a system of automatic toll dialing that will eliminate the need of operators keeping accounts of the out-of-town calls. This means that, about a year from now, anyone in Sierra Madre may dial numbers to practically anywhere in the Los Angeles metropolitan area.

Not all numbers in Sierra Madre will be changed—only those beginning CU. 5-4, CU. 5-5, CU. 5-6, and CU. 5-8.

DRIVE FOR RED FEATHER
FUNDS BEGINS OCT. 27

The Sierra Madre Red Feather Community Fund campaign will soon be under way. Dr. Allan Burgess, chairman for the Kiwanis Community Fund Committee, has announced the official date as October 27, so far as the door-to-door campaign is concerned, but he points out that contributions already can be made to some other communities of similar size. For that reason the Kiwanis Fund Committee is asking for volunteers to help put the drive above that amount.

Kiwanis members who are coordinating their efforts toward the campaign are: Publicity—Milt Valois, Art Ritter, Harry Lange; Finance—Dave Allen, R. C. Lewis, Gene Lunsford; Collection—Hugh warden, Charles Skutt, Phil Mitchell, Roy Pickett, Al Jenkins, Art Morse, Charles Klunk; Auditing—Knox Hagar, Phil Woodworth, Frank Spencer, Charles Hostetter, Hugh Warden; Service—Bill Bodley, Emil Smith, Felix Gibian, Bob Green and John Conzelmann.

The Red Feather goal in Sierra Madre is $6000 this year. This figure, resulting from a conservative estimate of Sierra Madre's needs, is low compared

SURVEY APPLAUDS,
WARNS COMMUNITYCity Officials Back
From League Meeting

City Administrator R. Merritt Baker and Mrs. L. Marie Warfel, city clerk, have returned from San Diego where they attended the 54th annual meeting of the League of California Cities. The session, attended by approximately 2000 city officials throughout the state, began Monday morning, Oct. 13 and was brought to a close Wednesday, Oct. 15.

Murder Victim
Resided Here

After three small children and a Chester grocery store owner were found brutally murdered near Chester last Saturday, the name of a former resident, a little boy of 4, was on the list of victims—Michael Saile. With his mother, Mrs. Rosemary Saile, he had lived here in 1950 and the following year before leaving in the summer of 1951.

Because his mother worked in Los Angeles, Michael spent much of his time with Mrs. Charles "Mama Pete" Peterson, and later was enrolled at the Sierra Madre Community Nursery School.

Mrs. Marjorie Green, director of the Community Nursery School, joined many others in town who mourned Michael's tragic death, when she said: "He was, you might say, everybody's child here—a happy, exuberant little boy, loved by adults and children alike."

Diamond Ring
Lost But In A Safe Place

Mrs. Elmer C. Strohm of Arcadia was enroute to Los Angeles to attend the Eisenhower rally last Thursday when she noticed that her large diamond ring was missing. Arriving at the Pan Pacific auditorium, she raced to a telephone and called home. A search was made throughout the house, but the ring was not to be found. She hung up in despair and returned to the group of Sierra Madreans that included her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Roberts.

Because there was "standing room only," she stood with the group for two and one-half hours—a tough enough ordeal for a person with a calm mind, let alone a woman who had just lost a ring which she treasured dearly. As tired as she was, it was difficult for her to sleep that night after she returned home.

She knew the ring had been in her hand, along with gloves and a purse when she left home hurriedly that afternoon. She and Mr. Strohm had made but one stop in their car at a gas station in Sierra Madre, before joining their friends aboard the chartered Republican bus to Los Angeles. Then the ring had disappeared.

Next day, unknown to Mrs. Strohm, Harold Roberts and Roy Pickett exchanged early morning greetings before opening their adjoining establishments. In their conversation, Mr. Pickett described a certain sedan and asked Mr. Roberts if it belonged to friends of his. Mr. Roberts suddenly became too excited to give an answer. Instead, he asked a question of his own.

"Did you find it?" Mr. Pickett smiled his slow smile. "Yes, I found it."

It was a happy day for Mrs. Strohm. It was a happy day for everybody.

Girl Scouts Report
Troop 15 Camp Trip

Seventeen girls from Sierra Madre's Troop 15 have just returned from an overnight camping trip to Oak Grove Park. Mr. Pearson of the Pasadena Recreation Department conducted a Nature Hike Saturday afternoon, and during the evening the girls entertained their parents around the campfire. They presented original skits and sang songs, popped corn and toasted marshmallows.

EXPERTS MAKE IMPARTIAL
STUDY OF SIERRA MADRE

Lorne Pratt, manager for the San Gabriel Chamber of Commerce, built up the ego of Sierra Madreans last Tuesday, then tore it down again. Pratt, who is a resident of Sierra Madre, told merchants at a Kiwanis luncheon that he had no joke with which to begin—except for Sierra Madre. "Our funny story," he said, "is Sierra Madre."

There were more merchants at the meeting than had attended in a long time, according to Bob Green, chairman of the day for the special Kiwanis occasion. Although no vote was taken to discover how many agreed with Mr. Pratt, everybody listened. When he finished he had a full round of applause.

Pratt began by saying that Sierra Madre, from a business point of view, showed up surprisingly well in contrast to what many had expected. His statements were based on the results of a "Community Shopping Survey," conducted Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 by a group of recognized authorities in the merchandising field. The men were obtained from advertising agencies, wholesale houses, department stores, and research organizations—at no cost to anyone in Sierra Madre. All of the "surveyors" obtained through the free services of Chambers of Commerce in various localities, were from outside Sierra Madre and therefore without local prejudice.

These men, some of them from organizations known nationwide, made a thorough inspection of downtown Sierra Madre, searching for clues, good or bad, that would contribute to an accurate, unbiased result in their reports on local business conditions. Walking into Sierra Madre stores, without warnings beforehand, these men judged on a basis in which 100% represented an acceptable score under today's modern merchandising methods. Their first impressions were as follows:

Sierra Madre stores are 97% within par of average day prices. This is exceptional for communities the size of Sierra Madre.

Merchandise (quality, selection, etcetera) was judged 100% par. This is rare for any community and should be considered a pat on the back for local merchants collectively.

Housekeeping—which means cleanliness and orderliness—was rated 80%. Store fronts were tabbed 90%. But here comes room for big improvement—"interior lighting" sank to a low of 40%. As Pratt pointed out, in many Sierra Madre stores customers can hardly find the goods they are looking for—compared to lighting displays in stores located in competitive cities.

Classifications such as "Store Identifications," "Salesmanship," "Merchandise Display," and "Customer Appeal" received a favorable estimate—all of them above 80%.

"Utilization of Potentialities" was not too good—55%. It was at this point that Pratt warned citizens and merchants alike that they should awaken to the communities that were developing around them. He pointed out that a community could keep alive only to the point where its citizens and merchants promoted for the good of said community. It was here that he suggested that the town do more for its children, whether it came to the organizing of baseball leagues or free Saturday matinees at the movies.

In illustration, he mentioned that San Gabriel had prospered until a condition of lethargy existing within the "satisfied" merchants sent business outside the town. Once awakening to this fact, the town made sufficient effort to recuperate. Through coordinations by its Chamber of Commerce and cooperation of merchants as well as average citizens, San Gabriel has been applauded nationally for its 33½% gains in business and progressive improvements.

Pratt suggested that the same could be done in Sierra Madre, with the cooperation of all concerned, but he was cautious in stating that this information came to Sierra Madreans free of charge—that he was not looking for a job, especially considering the many activities in which he is now engaged.

He highlighted many interesting facts. The population in Sierra Madre in 1940, he said, was 4581. In 1950 it was 7273, according to his figures, representing an increase of 58.8% in ten years.

Among other listings, Pratt said that the "buying power" in Sierra Madre amounted to $12,583,630 in 1950.

When it came to newspaper readers, Pratt announced that the Sierra Madre NEWS reached 86.2% of the families within its vicinity.

After saying many nice things about Sierra Madre, Pratt called the town "apathetic." He said that Sierra Madre was the only town of 5000 population, or over, in California that does not have a Chamber of Commerce. Pointing out that he had been a resident of Sierra Madre since he was five weeks old, Pratt suggested that there were too many people in town who had too little pride in the community. He claimed that public awareness, enlivened by a newly organized Chamber of Commerce, might lift the local conscience to a degree whereby the community might protect itself against being by-passed by newer developments around it. He said that he spoke as a long-time resident of Sierra Madre who wanted to see his home town adjusting to circumstances that it would have to cope with eventually, whether it wanted to or not.

The meeting was turned over to Mr. Pratt by Hugh Warden, president of Sierra Madre Kiwanis.

GOP 'Fund Party' Tickets
May Prove a Big Sell-Out

Tickets for the GOP Fun(d) Party scheduled for Wednesday night at the Wistaria Vine were going this week at such a rate that the committee was considering closing sales before the day of the party.

Formerly it was reported that guests for the drama, informal dance and refreshments would be able to purchase their tickets at the door that night. But Mrs. Virginia Timmons, in charge of tickets in this area, reported that because of the number of seats available they might have to close out sales earlier.

The GOP will present that night the three-act comedy drama, "Light Up the Sky," by the Sho-Box players. A choral group composed of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Ford, Mr. and Mrs. William Hawkins, Leonard Franco, Pat Zebal, Elsa Seifert, Rosa Cason and Pat Valentine will sing pertinent GOP songs. Don Parker will play the piano.

Assemblyman Frank Lanterman and Congressional Candidate Edgar W. Hiestand will be among the distinguished guests. A small orchestra will play for dancing following the drama, and the committee has promised refreshments as the evening closes.

Mrs. Timmons reported that, thanks to the enthusiasm with which donations of refreshments were being made, and that the talent also was contributing its services to the Republican cause, nearly 100 per cent of the ticket money would go to the Eisenhower-Nixon fund. "Our overhead will be virtually nil," Mrs. Timmons said. "We thought the public would like to know that its money will go direct to the GOP."

Committee members were headed by Dick Thayer and included, in addition to Mrs. Timmons, Mrs. Ralph Jones, Mrs. Rudy Hartman Jr., Mrs. Alexander Hartman Jr., Mrs. Alexander Black, Charles Louk and Col. Charles E. Morrison.

FERBER STORY DESCRIBES TEXAS TODAY, TOMORROW

Reviewed by Isabel Stradley

Here is the Texas legend, a story of conflict, of a mingling of races and cultures. There is as much vitality and freshness in this new book of Edna Ferber's as in SHOW BOAT and SO BIG.

The very first chapter begins with a panoramic picture as though from some early epic movie of the building of the West. Texas yesterday is unbelievable, but no more unbelievable or incredible than Texas today! Today's Texas is exasperating, violent, charming, horrible, delightful, enormously alive.

In particular the novel tells about Leslie Lynton, gently-bred daughter of a Virginia household, who marries Bick Benedict, tough and competent master of a mammoth ranch in Texas. Benedict is no frontier rough; he has been at Harvard, traveled abroad, and is sensitive to culture, if not impressed by it. But his life has been focused upon the task of developing a million acres. The most sharply delineated character is Jett Rink, oil-king and hotel proprietor. Always accompanied by his bodyguard of thugs like a gangster, he is the biggest millionaire, billionaire, trillionaire alive. You are soon conscious of the newer Texas element—the oil plutocracy, made almost overnight into millionaires. Then there is the third element—now subdued, but still tenacious of its old but simple culture; the Mexicans, the vaqueros, the shy servants, the laborers, but as indispensable to the conquerors as the slaves to the old Southern planters.

There are of course some seven million Texans who are not millionaires, and their females do go out for an armload of stove wood without throwing a sable stole around their shoulders. Texans will be both flattered and annoyed by Miss Ferber's epic, but it will be read with vast entertainment in the other 47 commonwealths. It is an incisive and revealing picture of this remarkable state, a country within a country.

Rites Held for Mrs. Evelyn Mae Orchard

Mrs. Evelyn Mae Orchard passed away at the age of 63, Oct. 8. Formerly from North Bend, Wisconsin, Mrs. Orchard had been a resident of Sierra Madre for seven years. She resided at 101 N. Lima.

She is survived by her husband, Worden B. Orchard; two daughters, Mrs. Evelyn Stoffel of Sierra Madre and Mrs. Wilma Stangl, Grand Forks, North Dakota; and a son, Tim Duane, St. Paul, Minn.

The Rosary was recited at Grant's Chapel Friday evening. Mass was said Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. Interment was at Resurrection Cemetery, South San Gabriel. Mrs. Orchard was a member of St. Rita's Church in Sierra Madre.

Shuffle Board Club Elects New Officers

New officers for the coming year were elected this week by the Sierra Madre Shuffle Board and Card Club. Francis J. Turba, who has had 12 years experience running similar clubs in San Diego and Pasadena, will be president. John Chambers has been named secretary.

Plans are being formulated for a clubhouse to take care of the approximately 50 members who participate in the social life of the club. Sierra Madre Park House, formerly used, is not practical in rainy or inclement weather.

G. G. Hanafords Take Residence In Sierra Madre

Mr. and Mrs. George G. Hanaford are new residents of Sierra Madre, having moved here from Hollywood. They are occupying the home owned by Mr. Hanaford's mother, Mrs. W. H. Hanaford, at 138 W. Montecito. Mrs. Hanaford Sr. Montecito will occupy the apartment in the rear.

Sierra Madre Pair Marry In Alaska

Word was received here this week of the marriage of Adele Doty, formerly of the Sierra Madre Bank staff, and George Wetherbee, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Wetherbee of this city, which took place Sept. 15 in Alaska.

Mrs. Burt Cochran To Give Park Talk

Mrs. Burt Cochran of La Canada will be the speaker at a meeting of "Foothill Towns Unit Pro America" at the Sierra Madre park house Monday, Oct. 20, at 10:00 a.m. Principal subject under discussion will be the ballot measures to be voted Nov. 4.

The meeting will be open to the public.

MR. JACKSON'S 941

Thomas Jefferson Jackson will be 94 years young on Oct. 24—making him runner-up with Mrs. Elizabeth Dietz for honors as the youngest-in-spirit Sierra Madren we know. Mr. Jackson will receive his cards and congratulations at the Sierra Madre Hospital, 94 N. Baldwin avenue.

If you have news—call us.

Dan Peterson Wins Awards Nationally

Don Lee Peterson, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterson, 71 Suffolk, recently was named sixth place winner in a national contest sponsored by Ford Motor Industrial Arts. Young Peterson worked for six months on the house plans, complete with scale model, that won him this national recognition.

A student at John Marshall Junior High School, Dan budgeted his time during his studies to allow 200 working hours for his engineering and architectural project. The prizes he received were an engraved certificate and a gold pin.

Deer Hunters Go Mountain Climbing

Don Jackson and Fred Lalone left Sierra Madre last Thursday on a deer hunt near Kernville. When it looked as if the deer had caught the news in advance, Jackson and Lalone did a bit of cliff scaling on Greenhorn Mountain. "We walked where no sane person would go," Lalone said. "No one but a deer."

Friday, Lalone caught a 3-point buck at 300 yards. Saturday, Jackson brought down a 2-point buck running at 400 yards, in what he modestly describes as "a lucky shot." They returned to Sierra Madre last Sunday, complete with deer.

Surprise Shower For Mrs. Bischoff

Mrs. Carl H. Bischoff, the former Ruth Harris, was guest of honor Tuesday evening at a surprise baby shower at 185 Santa Anita Court. Hostesses were Bernadine Burlin of Arcadia and Dorothy Kennedy of Sierra Madre.

Guests included Marian Harfman, Marie Clark, Gwen Dewey, Florence Morgan, Isabelle Kanitz, Georgene Wakeman, Margaret Picard, Lynette Briggs, Ruth Covert and Dorothy Underwood, all of this city.

DEATH TAKES MRS. SAMUEL J. GORMAN

Death took Mrs. Ollie Pearl Gorman Wednesday, Oct. 8. As a resident of Sierra Madre since 1936, Mrs. Gorman, 73, resided at 183 E. Miramonte. She is survived by her husband, Mr. Samuel J. Gorman; a daughter, Mrs. Eleta L. Cochran of Sierra Madre; another daughter, Mrs. Betty Irene Rone, Compton; and a son, G. L. "Bill" Whaley, Pasadena. Mrs. Gorman had six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren, who also survive her.

Services were held last Friday afternoon at Grant Chapel, conducted by the Rev. Carl Smith. Burial was at Mountain View Cemetery, Altadena.

ENTERTAIN IN GARDEN

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond V. Jones of 240 E. Sierra Madre boulevard entertained on Friday evening at a barbecue supper in their gardens.

FIRE FLAMES

With all the excitement and ill feelings of the present presidential campaign now in progress, perhaps it is a waste of time to try to talk fire prevention and I wonder if any one cares, anyhow.

If they don't, they had better be getting on the ball. Our fire loss for the year 1951 rose again after having a drop in 1950 over 1949 and 1948. We of the fire service began to think we were getting somewhere, but alas and alack, up she goes.

The estimated fire loss for the United States last year was $730,084,000. This estimate comes from the reports of all cooperative fire chiefs throughout the country. Most of these fires are caused by careless smokers, bad wiring and poor housekeeping. Poor housekeeping is not limited to the housewife. Father's garage and sheds are included. Accumulation of flammable materials are bad anywhere at anytime. We of Sierra Madre can be very grateful for the good luck and good housekeeping of the residents and the hard work of the local fire department. It can't be ALL luck.

While most of you are now concerned with who will be the next president, we of the fire department are hoping he will be fire conscious. The president can do much to lower the fire losses of the nation. So, whoever he may be after November, let's do lots of hoping.

The fire department answered three calls during August. Two of these were late at night. Fortunately, the response to each was early and lots of 'em. We often wonder what might happen at an early hour of the morning, when the firemen at home are in that sound sleep and fail to awaken. This could happen. Some of us feel it impossible, because of the way the horn blasts us from our beds. We only hope that the interest and the horn continues to awaken us in time.

Last week the country stressed the need of fire prevention and why we should make every week a fire prevention week. In Sierra Madre the principal aim of the firemen is to keep our residents fire conscious in order to keep down the fires. Apparently there has been some success and we will continue by thinking that our reward is our fine low fire loss record. And for all that we are thankful. In the meantime get out and vote for your favorite presidential candidate and the men that you think are best suited for his staff. Let not party differences spoil friendships. FIRES OUT.

EDUCATOR GIVES TALK

The differences in personality and behavior among children will be described by Dr. Helen Christianson, Supervisor of Early Childhood Education at UCLA, when she speaks before the Sierra Madre Community Nursery School Association Tuesday evening, Oct. 21, at 8 p.m. The Association will meet at the Nursery School building, 701 E. Sierra Madre boulevard.

Dr. Christianson, who is educational advisor to the Association, will entitle her subject: "Personality Development in Young Children." She will tell how a child's early attitudes can affect later happiness, and how a parent's own experience can affect his understanding of child behavior.

Following Dr. Christianson's talk, there will be a general discussion period, and refreshments will be served. The public is invited to attend.

NEW CHORUS HEAD

Dr. Delos Comstock of Alhambra has been elected chairman of the Pasadena Civic Chorus. Mrs. Janet Wood, Sierra Madre, was the former chairman.

Fashion Show Gala Event

NO LOCAL MEET FOR LIONS CLUB

There will be no meeting of the local Lions Club this week, president Bob Buttane has announced. Instead, the Lions will attend regional meeting in El Monte, Friday, Oct. 17. Members are asked to meet in front of the Sierra Madre Woman's Clubhouse, at 6:15 p.m. of that date, before going to the El Monte meeting which begins at 7 o'clock.

Veterans To Drive Voters And Baby-Sit

Judge John C. Mead, chairman of the VFW "Get Out the Vote" committee, has announced that the Veterans of Foreign Wars are planning a campaign that will include a fleet of automobiles to take voters to the polls.

The automobiles will be at the post's headquarters, 37 E. Montecito, from noon until 7 p.m., on Election Day to answer all phone calls for transportation to voting booths and return.

The drivers of the cars are inviting the voters to take their children and the drivers will act as "baby-sitters" while the mothers are in the voting booths.

Past Commander Louis Van Iersel will answer all telephone calls and dispatch the cars to collect the voters.

'Las Vegas Daze' Presented By Foothill Club

Mr. Charles Gindin, president of the Foothill Jewish Men's Club, assisted by Mr. Max Brezinsky, chairman of the forthcoming festivities, announce that on the evening of Saturday, Oct. 25, at the Foothill Jewish Community Center, 212 N. Lima street, Sierra Madre, a "Las Vegas Daze" will be presented for the enjoyment of all. Admission will be free.

There will be plenty of refreshments and dancing. Music will be provided by the best bands in the land—a juke box. This affair will be the first of many to be enjoyed by the Foothill and surrounding areas' Jewish community.

Latest Fall Models Viewed By More Than Five Hundred

By RUTH MALONE

More than 500 guests attended the fashion show-dessert gala presented Saturday by the Sierra Madre Community Nursery School Auxiliary in the lovely pool-side gardens of Mr. and Mrs. James Sheldon Riley, 1160 W. Orange Grove avenue, Arcadia.

Presiding at the tea tables during the dessert service were Mrs. Milton Valois, Mrs. Kenneth M. Bush, Mrs. Howell N. White, Jr., Mrs. Myrtle Randolph, Mrs. Edith Dewey, Mrs. Peter Ward, Mrs. Philip Saurenman, Mrs. Fred Tempes and Mrs. E. W. Beutler.

Preceding the affair a number of hostesses laid covers for luncheons, among them Mrs. Philip Saurenman of Pasadena, Mrs. Gerald Marugg of Monrovia, Mrs. Milton Valois, Mrs. Charles Shugert, Mrs. Robert Walker, Mrs. W. B. Nehls and Mrs. Robert McKesson of Sierra Madre.

Against a back-drop of Allee in Wonderland figures painted by Pauline O'Neill, a member of the Auxiliary and former president of the Nursery School Association, fashions for children, teen-agers and grown-ups were modeled in a two-hour showing of high-style fashion. Virginia Sayles, from whose shop for women most of the clothes were drawn, was mistress of ceremonies.

Magnificent floral decorations were the contribution of Georgene of Sierra Madre, and the hair styling was by William Fisher, newly come to this city.

Mrs. Sayles opened her showing, an Around-the-Clock coverage, with casual and sports models for the morning hours, continued with smart luncheon clothes and moved on to the dressier hours—afternoon, "sundown" models, short and long formal and finally a "good-night" group of fine lingerie.

More models were shown, in every age group and at every price level, than can possibly be described. But there were some innovations so outstanding we can't resist describing them.

Among these, two raincoats proved that the old-time "slicker" was a thing of the past. One of them, a handsome textured corduroy in honey-beige, was lined in black taffeta and came with its own cinch-belt, with which it can be transformed—believe it or not—into a dress. The other was a checked tissue-gingham covered with a plastic material, chic and much to the point over heavy suits or winter wools.

There was the usual "good little black" which every French woman cherishes, translated this time into thin wool, made with a high neck and long sleeves and covered with a black-and-white Italian wool jersey.

In this same category of good basics was a navy crepe, straight and slim and buttoned almost to the hem, and entirely lined with bright green taffeta.

A costume suit of tissue tweed came in three parts—a slim skirt, a loose jacket set off with a small Chinese collar and a rich brown wool jersey over-bouise.

Two coats were outstanding—one a fleecy white orlon which very surprisingly can be laundered, and another a pyramid model in wool and orlon—guaranteed mothproof for five years!

Evening clothes seem mostly to be fashioned of net this season. A ballerina-length model was low cut, with black net over pink and came with a pink net stole to play peek-a-bow with the bared shoulder. One of those formals everybody dreams about was powder blue net embroidered with ribbon in the same shade, and made with three deep folds of satin at the waist forming a flat bow in the rear. This was floor-length. A stunning full-length scarlet model—again of net—was embroidered with gold and silver sequins.

Most outstanding of the good-night lingerie was pleated nylon in good-enough-to-eat pastels.

The furs shown with these clothes, mostly capes and the popular stole, were from Nettleton's. Children's fashions, from Hall's Youngland, featured high styling in durable, washable cottons and synthetic fabrics guaranteed to withstand the wear and tear of the small fry and, at the same time, look smart.

The committee for the Fashion Show was headed by Mrs. Kenneth Bush, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Andrew, Mrs. Robert Bettencourt, Mrs. Howell N. White, Jr., Mrs. Katherine Valentine, Mrs. Harry McDonough and Mrs. Mac Cason.

Mrs. Jacobs Speaks For Proposition 2

Mrs. Nathan Jacobs will give a talk before the Women's Society at the Jewish Community Center, Tuesday, Oct. 21. She will speak on behalf of Proposition Two.

COMMITTEE ESTIMATES TAX SAVING

The Sierra Madre Committee of California for Justice in Education estimates that the non-profit schools of this city save the taxpayers $65,000 each year. This committee is composed of the following:

Chairman Draper W. Phillips, Don H. Jackson, John W. Reece, Dr. M. H. A. Peterson, W. F. Jones, Al E. Morgan, John C. Loomis Jr., Harry A. Lange, the Rev. Harley G. Smith Jr., Bashford T. Sewall, John L. Powell, Mrs. Woodrow A. Mecca, Karl M. Joehnek, Mrs. Walter P. White, Hall Perry, and Otho G. Lord.

HORSE SHOW TO OPEN IN L. A. FRIDAY AT PAN-PACIFIC

Over 500 horses have been brought by their owners to the Pan-Pacific Auditorium to compete in the ten-day Los Angeles International Horse Show starting Friday, Oct. 17.

Stables from Oregon, Washington, Utah, Michigan, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Kansas, Iowa, Idaho and Arizona will be contesting for the top blue ribbon awards with the finest horses from California. Eight events of competition will be held at each performance starting at 8:15 p.m. in the evenings with matinees scheduled for 2 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

Four special events will also be held at each performance consisting of Dorita Konyot and her dancing horse, Draft Teams, Pony Hitches, and the first Southern California appearance of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The Mounties, numbering 38 of the famous scarlet-clad lawmen, have brought 35 horses from Ottawa to perform in their colorful "Musical Ride" which will thrill young and old alike.

The public has been invited to visit the stables and see the actual behind-the-scenes operation of caring for the horses which will compete and be shown in exhibition.

Come and bring the family to the PTA Carnival Sat., Oct. 18.

Thurstons of Florida Establish Home Here

Newcomers to Sierra Madre are Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Thurston and their three children, Anita, Paul and Eric, who have moved into 601 Mariposa avenue. They arrived here from Gainesville, Fla., seat of the University of Florida. Mr. Thurston, an electrical engineer, will teach at Cal Tech.

The present issue, Oct. 3, of the U. S. News and World Report on file at the Sierra Madre Library gives the following political information: Number of electoral votes of each state; How campaigns are financed; High cost of being a congressman; Income of a congressman. These articles answer many questions and give the political trend that is of interest to voters.

Editorials:

THE PEOPLE IS YOU

It's time again. Time to talk yourself into parting with some hard-earned cash for a worthy cause. Or causes. The Sierra Madre Red Feather Community Fund embraces more than one, so you shouldn't have too hard a time convincing yourself. Because the money you give goes into more than a far-flung, nebulous "worthy cause." It goes into Sierra Madre. For the people of Sierra Madre. And the people is you.

That's right. The people is you. If you think that's bad English, look it up. But even if it were bad English, who cares? The important fact is that what happens to people in Sierra Madre happens to you.

You are the people of Sierra Madre. Maybe you like that better. So say it that way, if you wish. Say it a good many times. And when the moment comes, give.

You'll be giving to yourself, even if the benefits return to you in ways that can't be measured by a slide rule. Conditions in your community affect you more than you think. If you live in a healthy, happy community, you and yours have a better chance of achieving all those personal goals that mean your success and happiness. So give.

You aren't losing anything. You'll be way ahead.

STAN CAN -- BUT CAN I?

Three years ago, Stan Cann became your editor. He was a young journalist on his first real job, and he was eager. He would have liked to expose a ring of big-time crooks or to become the reporter-detective in a murder mystery. But he soon discovered that the town of Sierra Madre was practically as peaceful as its own beautiful mountains, a place not much bothered by political bosses or murder, Inc.

So he settled down to the conscientious business of reporting the routine news.

Then, a few months ago, Stan and a Certain Girl planned to get married. It was a decision that took Stan from Sierra Madre.

The owner and publisher of the Sierra Madre News, Peter Ward, brought in a new man. The new man was ten years older than Stan. He had worked in many fields of journalism, but never on a small town weekly newspaper. He was a resident of Sierra Madre who was tired of driving the 40 mile round-trip to Hollywood to earn a living. The life of a "village" editor looked good to him. It looked real comfortable.

Stan was very cooperative. When the new man sat down to the typewriter and dashed off a rewrite, Stan was impressed. The new man did pretty well on headlines, too—although, as he said, it had been a long time since he had fooled around with such details. As a reporter on big papers he had turned in his copy to the city desk, or the copy desk, or merely handed it over to a copy boy. That's how it was on big newspapers. Everything was specialized.

Stan said golly that sounded wonderful, but right now would the new man mind reading a little proof? The phone had rung and Stan was busy with a woman who wanted to know if anyone had advertised in the paper within the last six weeks to do housework. She needed a laundress. Whenever the going got tough, Stan stepped in and straightened things out.

They worked through the day and, after dinner, they came back to clean up the stories that had been interrupted by people dropping by to visit; people who thought it would be wonderful to live the mellow, leisurely life of a rural newspaper man; people who came in to ask if this were the bus depot.

The new man was very tired by midnight. His brain was fuzzy and his body ached. Stan kept him alive with patience and encouragement, until the last story was finished.

When they met next morning they shook hands, not knowing exactly why, and went to work on the headlines, hurriedly. It was Wednesday. The big day. Press day.

At two o'clock Stan removed his coat and put on an apron. The apron was a heroic looking rag, soaked with sweat and printer's ink. The new man was confused again, but Stan explained that on a small town newspaper you always pitched in to help the other guy, when the going got rough. Everybody helped everybody.

Daylight passed and electric bulbs reflected their light against windows black with night. Everybody was working. Everybody but the new man.

The new man felt as if he had dog-trotted 50 miles, trying to keep out of the way. He was a limp cookie. He was very tired.

When the last type was laid, and the last form was filled, the gang gathered round. There was Ed Leffler, Dottie Underwood, Ruth Malone, Lee Campbell, Paul Siebenmann, Bob Brogger, Phil Foster, Harold Barton, Peter and his wife, and Fred Hawkins. Fred, the floor manager with his ruddy English smile, turned off the presses. For the first time that day, Stan was confused.

Peter Ward's wife, Mary Toms, handed him a box, with a white satin ribbon. She told him it was from them all. He blushed. He said: "Gee, you shouldn't have done it."

It was a coffee pot—a coffee pot like the new man had never seen before. It had more chrome than a new automobile. It had buttons on it. Little windows. Levers. It had lights that flashed signals. It had everything but television.

Stan eased his weight from one leg to the other. He was normally a tall young man with the strength of youth in his shoulders, but right now he was stooped. He was tired. The printer's apron sagged from his neck as he bent over to examine his present.

It was more than a coffee pot. It was a token of love and affection, from a gang in which everybody pitched in to help everybody, when the going got rough.

The new man blinked and pretended to brush a fly from his face. He wasn't the only one. Fred Hawkins found it so hard to smile that he turned his back. He flipped a switch, and the presses rolled.

When the group dispersed, the new man followed Stan to the front office. They had some press proofs to read. Stan, still in his dirty apron but unaware of it, sank into a chair.

They checked the headlines, the captions, and the news stories. Then they looked at each other and nodded. The paper was ready to go.

Stan washed up and reappeared in his city clothes. "Good night, editor," he said to the new man.

"Don't say that," the new man said, "it scares me."

Stan laughed, and told the new man not to worry. Everything would be all right. Then, with one arm hugging the coffee pot, he went out the door.

The new man sat down, in the editor's chair. His back ached. He rubbed his eyes and reached for a cigarette. He was exhausted. But not too exhausted to begin an editorial, entitled: "Stan Cann can—but can I?"

It was corny—but sincere. It was a tribute.

Troop 3 Shows Color Films

Adventure films in color will be the feature attraction in the entertainment presented by Boy Scout Troop 3, at the Congregational Church, 170 W. Sierra Madre boulevard, Friday night, Oct. 17. Grant Raddon, chairman of the committee for Troop 3, has announced that the films will tell the story of the Boy Scouts in the High Sierra, based upon actual experiences of the troop in that area on 10-day and two-week camping trips.

Admission price of 25 cents includes ice cream and cake. Proceeds will be used to buy camping equipment for Troop 3. The pictures will be shown from 6:30 to 8:00 p.m.

As its guests for dinner and the evening, Troop 3 has invited the children and staff of Plaza Children's Home.

Come and bring the family to the PTA Carnival Sat., Oct. 18.

MRS. LUMBARD HONORS SISTER

Mrs. S. C. Lumbard of 470 Manzanita avenue entertained last week at a Neighborhood Coffee Hour in honor of her sister-in-law, Mrs. John D. Kinsey, a visitor from Evanston, Ill. Fourteen guests greeted Mrs. Kinsey, who left last Monday by plane for her home town after a visit of ten days in Sierra Madre.

PARTY PLANNED FOR CHILDREN ON HALLOWEEN

The Sierra Madre PTA is planning a party for school children on Halloween Friday evening, Oct. 31, in the city school auditorium. The party will include cider and cookies, moving pictures from 7:30 to 8:30, followed by a parade across the stage to show the children's costumes. A special surprise treat will be presented to each child.

Between now and Halloween, children in St. Rita's, Ascension Parish School, and City School will be encouraged to gather articles for needy people when they go after their "loot."

Mrs. Barbara Moffet, chairman of the PTA, has put special emphasis on the need of sewing items, such as pins, needles, buttons, scissors, and spools of thread. Children are asked to bring whatever gifts in this line they may acquire to the party, after they have made the rounds of their neighbors' homes.

The Halloween Committee of the PTA also intends to help local teen-agers plan a dance in the City School cafeteria. Representatives from youth groups and Junior High schools will set up their own party with the help of Mr. and Mrs. Al Feadler and Mrs. Ann Burke.

AZUSA
Golden Days
OCT. 28th to NOV. 1st

JEANNE SHORES OF AZUSA, who won the title of Miss California for 1952 in Santa Cruz last June, topping that triumph by winning third place in the Miss America contest at Atlantic City in September, was the unanimous choice of her fellow townspeople to reign over the great Azusa Golden Days celebration. Jeanne, supported by a court of lovely princesses, will ride in the colorful parade on Saturday, November 1, and will also appear at various other functions during the celebration, which starts October 28. Theme for this year's celebration is: THE DAYS OF HENRY DALTON. This is in honor of the great pioneer ranchero, Henry Dalton, whose vast holdings centered in Azusa a century ago.

PTA ORGANIZES SINGING GROUP

The Sierra Madre PTA is organizing a choral group of men and women. Anyone who likes to sing is invited to join. Once organized, the singers will perform at different PTA meetings and other social activities.

Mrs. Kurt H. Hilsenberg, chairman of the chorus, has announced that the first meeting will be at 8 p.m. tonight in the school auditorium.

TEACHERS DISCUSS PROPOSITION TWO

Raymond Bowman, Sierra Madre fifth grade school teacher, addressed the Lions Club last Thursday evening at the Woman's Club. His topic was "Proposition Two," relating to the proposed increase in state support for public schools.

Elliott Ellenson, also a fifth grade teacher, spoke the night before on the same subject at a VFW meeting.

Thirty-nine Sierra Madre Republicans chartered a bus to take them to hear General Eisenhower at the Pan Pacific auditorium last Thursday. Having been informed that the auditorium gates would open at 6 p.m., they expected to be there on time to see as well as hear the general, but when they arrived they discovered the gates had opened at 5:30. As a result there was standing room only—outside. They saw the general, however after they stood two and one-half hours waiting for his appearance as he departed.

PARTY LINE...

By MARGE THOMAS, Custer 5-2951

Mrs. Minnie B. Graves who makes her home with her daughter and son-in-law, Robbie and Al Pruitt, on Cartwright, has been celebrating her birthday. Micky O'Connell of Inglewood had a surprise luncheon for Mrs. Graves and eight of her friends, at her west side home. Robbie had a party for her mother and those from the "Party Line" who did away with the birthday cake, once it was cut, were Ellenor Voges, Luce Heller, Grace Tabahak, Florence Teir, Lulu Wolf and Katherine Reames.

Mrs. Hulda Purkiss of Santa Maria is visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Connie and Pete Kelly and her two grandsons, Dillon and Tommy. She arrived in time to help Tommy celebrate his second birthday last Sunday. Tommy might only be two but he had a good attendance for his anniversary. His other grandmother, Mrs. Peter Kelly, Sr., as well as his aunt and uncle, Sally and Hugh Kelly, put in their appearance to wish him well and eat their share of the cake.

The husbands along the "Party Line" should know that there is one among them who is a brave man. Ed Eley planned and executed a surprise birthday party for his wife, Muriel. What is more, it really was a surprise and a gay time was had by all.

Huntington Memorial Hospital seems to be the stork's "hang out" for our area. Our most recently acquired "neighbor," Lucinda Ann, put in her appearance at the popular "port of entry" and is now "at home" with her parents, Carmella and Harry Halstead on Daverick. Mrs. Louise Ewell, an old and dear friend of Carmella's, has been looking after the Halstead family throughout the busy time.

Ginny Spaulding (Mrs. Bill) and Sue Eubanks (Mrs. Eddie) were co-hostesses at a baby shower for Fran Wright (Mrs. Gordon). The gals met for their dessert and coffee at the Eubank's home on Valley View. Those arriving with their pink and blue "bundles" were Mmes.

Al Pruitt, Minnie B. Graves, Harold Vogelstad, Bill Heller, Earl Strickland, Justin Fonda, Pete Kelly, Dale Sandro and Charles Thompson.

Berry and Vernon Ditmore, on Cynthia street, have just returned from a stay at San Diego. Vernon had to make the trip for business reasons so Berry bundled herself and the children, Bobbie and Jimmy, into the car and they sunned themselves at Ocean Beach while Vernon slaved away.

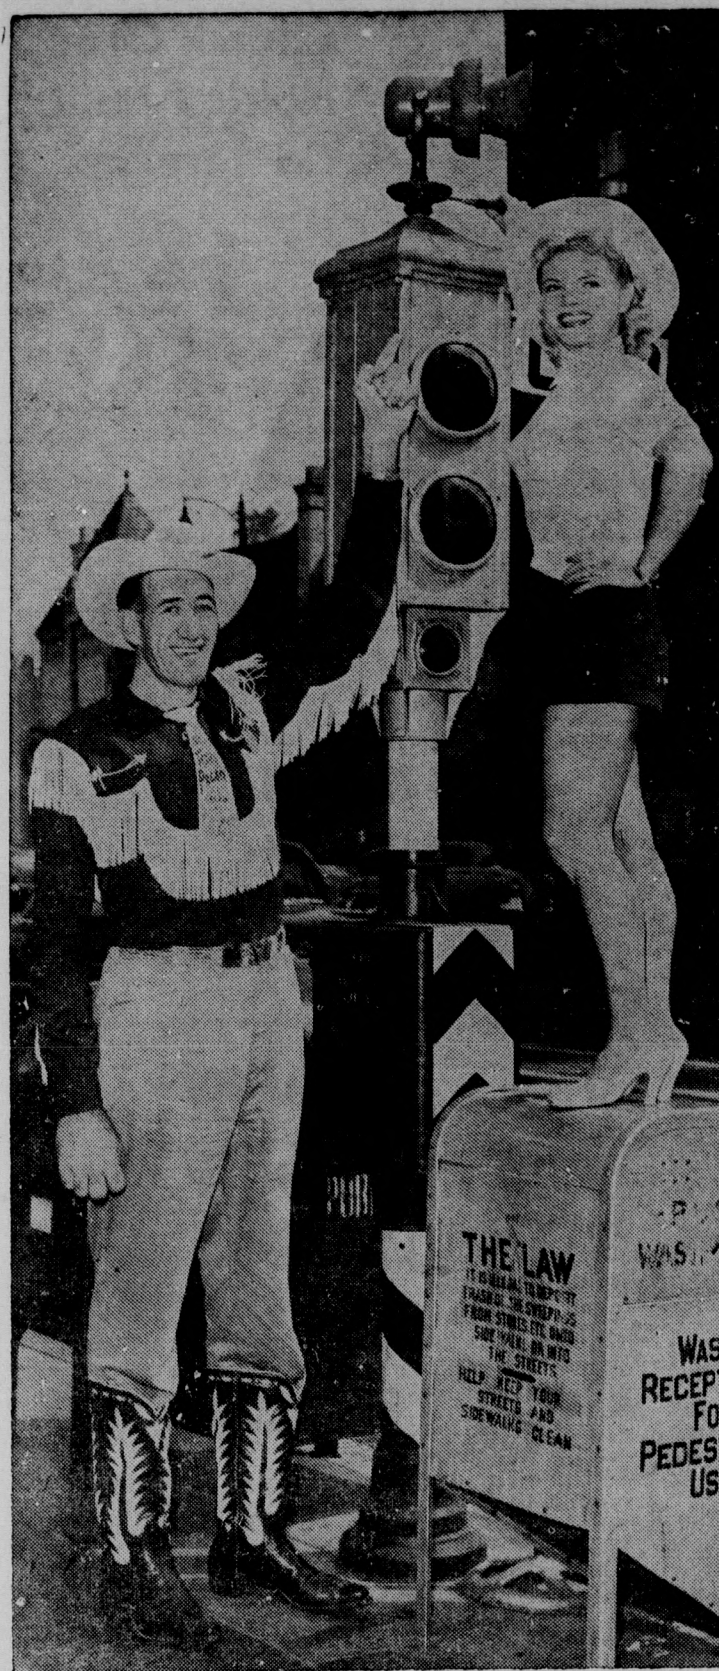

Sybil and Herbert Gale had a buffet supper at their Leonard street home last Sunday evening, honoring Sybil's aunt, Mrs. Gertrude Fufeld, who is visiting from Honolulu. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ashe of Beverly Wood came over to help with the celebration and festivities.

Ballot Measure Issues Were PTA Topic

"Ballot Measures" was the subject of the talk given by Mrs. Hobart Barnes, at the October meeting of the Eugene Field PTA, held last night in the cafeteria at the school. Mrs. Barnes is president of the Women's City Club and is a member of the Pasadena Council of Churches. She is active in both city and state groups of the League of Women Voters and was well qualified to discuss this timely subject.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Betty Snow, Mrs. Fran Scholtz and Mrs. Eleanor Kremler, room mothers from Mr. Garrison's room, and Mrs. Wright Snebold and Mrs. Naomi Johnston, room mothers from Mrs. Searles' room. Mrs. Gordon Doyles, president, was in charge of the meeting.

Field's membership drive began Monday, Oct. 13, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert E. Lee and Mrs. Leonard Rucks.

GETTING READY FOR THE NEXT "ALERT" . . . Shapely actress Vivian Mason and seven foot-eight-inch Locks Martin, the world's tallest deputy sheriff, pitch in to help adjust air raid siren at corner of Hollywood boulevard and Vine street in anticipation of coming public participation air raid drills in the Southland. Vivian, soon to be seen in Columbia Pictures' "Siren of Baghdad," gets complete cooperation of Martin, who was brought to Southern California by Arden Farms on a good will tour.

MALTBY'S RETURN FROM TRIP NORTH AT FORT DEFIANCE

Mr. and Mrs. C. Lauren Maltby, 120 Lowell, have returned from a month-long vacation trip to Washington, during which they visited with Mrs. Maltby's sister in Seattle.

The Maltbys were joined at Vashon Island, near Seattle, by their daughter, Jeanne, who had been counseling at a Campfire Girls camp, and the Sierra Madre trio then spent a week at Lake Chelan, visiting with Mrs. Maltby's two brothers.

Joining the family unit at Lake Chelan was Mrs. Joan Rogers, another of the Maltbys' daughters, and her husband. They traveled with the Maltbys to Vancouver and Victoria, B.C., then back as far as Berkeley, Calif. Jeanne has now returned to the University of California campus for her senior year.

R. K. Merritts Honor Out of Town Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Donald K. Merritt, 526 N. Lima, entertained with a buffet supper last Thursday evening in honor of their out of town guests, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Russell, from York, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. John Holing, Seattle. The group included James Phillips of Aladena, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Adam, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wilcox.

NOTED EDITOR HERE

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Phillips of Port Arthur, Ontario, will be visitors for several days at the home of the Al Foxtons at 322 W. Grandview avenue. Mr. Phillips is editor of the Fort Willows Times-Journal and was recently the subject of a cover-story in TIME magazine.

WE SERVICE ALL MAKES OF CARS

There's more to Going Pullman than a good night's sleep!

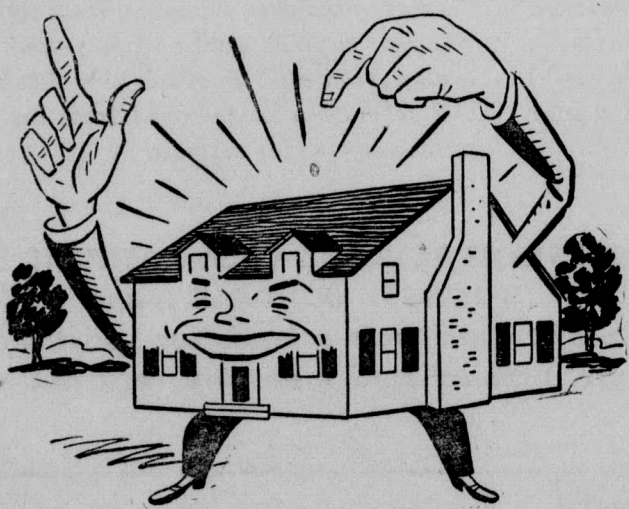

Ever stop to think why train travel—and especially S.P. Pullman travel—is such a restful, relaxing and satisfying way of going places? Actually there are lots of reasons—some big, some small. Mostly it's because everything is done so smoothly and unobtrusively for your comfort and pleasure.

What other mode of travel gives you all this? Full-length beds with full-size sheets and blankets; a private room of your own, if you wish, with its own private lavatory facilities; air-cooling and air-conditioning; a friendly porter to give you prompt and attentive service day or night; complimentary shoe shines; ice water at your finger tips; delicious Dining Car meals, courteously served; a Lounge Car for refreshing beverages, magazines, newspapers and congenial traveling companions.

For overnight or longer trips—whether along the Coast or to the East—Southern Pacific streamliners provide the very finest of modern Pullman accommodations. Try them for your next trip. They are the last word in luxury travel.

THERE'S MORE TO S. P., TOO! S. P. is a road to remember for your freight shipments. We have more miles of lines serving more Western cities and towns than any other railroad. For fast, efficient, dependable freight service—whether carload or l.c.l.—call our nearest agent.

HOME HAPPINESS STARTS AT THE TOP!

Give your home the protection of a U.S.G. Roof. There's no better protection against all kinds of weather than a good roof . . . and there is no better roof than U.S.G. Roof. Quality is important these days and you'll want to be sure you're getting the best for long wear and satisfactory service. That's why you'll want to re-roof with U.S.G. Roofing.

GOP COFFEES HEAR 'IKE'

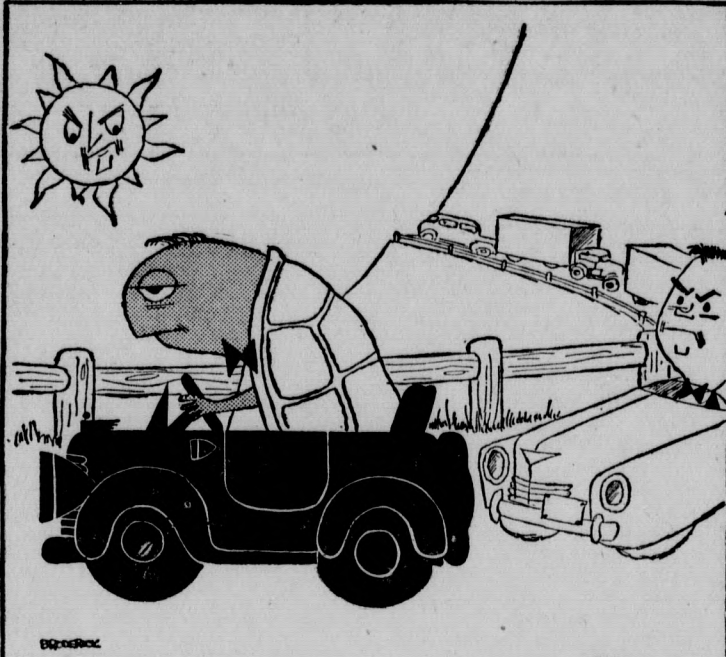

Local Republican women have begun a series of informal gatherings, "Coffee Hour with Eisenhower," at which times they listen to the morning broadcasts by the General. Among those who gave "coffee" last Tuesday were Mrs. Fred Morgan, area chairman for "Women for Eisenhower," who entertained a group at her home, 80 S. Baldwin; Mrs. J. Mack Vernon, 785 Skyland drive, who was host to 20 women; Mrs. Thomas Schwartz, 246 W. Highland, with a party of 11; and Mrs. Emily Crockett, 137 E. Sierra Madre boulevard, who served coffee to 10 of her friends.

The first "Coffee Hour with Eisenhower" party given in this area was by Mrs. Norman Chandler at her home, 800 W. Orange Grove, Arcadia.

Any women who wish to participate in the series are invited to contact Mrs. Fred Morgan.

GIRL SCOUTS REPORT

On Sunday morning the cooks were busy preparing the batter for "De Luxe Pancakes." Some how too much liquid was added and the resulting batter was a thin soup. However, necessity is the mother of invention and "Troop 15 Pancakes Supreme" were created! Slices of bread were dipped in the "soup," fried to a golden brown in bacon drippings and served with plenty of butter and syrup. Really delicious and much easier to fry than regular pancakes!

Mrs. Grace Smith of 109 S. Baldwin avenue, leader of Troop 15, was assisted with transportation by Mrs. Nell Maloney, Mrs. Dorothy Yarnell, Mrs. Phyllis Nixon, Mrs. Charlotte Ware, Mrs. Dorothy Draeger and Mr. J. F. Sheehy, Jr. Mrs. Ware, Mrs. Nixon and Mrs. Draeger helped with the over-night.

Girls who participated were Louise Annas, Barbara Brogger, Joanne Bush, Carol Draeger, Jacky Dunning, Louise Farrow, Judy Haymaker, Helen Jean Hippenstiel, Susan Maloney, Karen Morris, Alison Mecke, Pat Nixon, Louise Lauder, Nancy Roess, Diane Toms.

ROUND THE SQUARE

It's the seventh grand-child for the Lee Shippeys, with more to come: Mrs. Frank Shippey modeled maternity clothes at the same style show!

Maybe it's just a rumor, but we've heard that a few people in town objected to the "Young Republicans" advertising free beer for their recent "Gala." Perhaps it was that word "young" that bothered somebody. In that case, let's point out—for the benefit of Democrats as well—that a "young" party member is anyone up to 40 years of age. And he has to be 21 or over—or he'd better not mark a ballot!

This could be Republican propaganda. Everything these days is called propaganda, y'know. Whatever the case, we heard the story about a little boy who went into the local Republican headquarters, and put a dime on the counter. It was his contribution to the cause. We don't know if the story's true or not. Maybe it's material from the Democrats' "propaganda." Maybe they want us to think the Republicans are shaking down the tiny tots, taking their candy money.

One thing the local Democrats are doing—they're making the most of the whiskers that were painted on the big picture of Adlai Stevenson in front of the Democratic headquarters. Gave the chairman of the Stevenson Club, Lee Shippey, a chance to wisecrack: "Just another political smear!"
